MY SISTER

I have a sister, she is very clever.
Outside the house, she is a mouse
Inside the house, she is loud

People say that she is quiet
But I say this is not right
She is naughty, eager to fight
Every day and every night

When she sleeps
Looks innocent and bright
Keeping thumb in her mouth
Kicks me over night

When nobody listens her
She starts crying
It is a tool
To do what she is trying

When mom, dad are out
We are alone in the house
She dances through out
And disturbs me in the house

She loves drawing
Wasting the time,
After the drawing
Things are lying
When we say she starts crying

Always she says I want to play
With her friends in the ground
She plays lost and found
When it is dark out side
We have to search every sight

When we play, we laugh a lot
While losing game, she begins to shout
I lose the game for her
Of course it's the love of siblings no doubt!

CULTURAL DIVERSITY

India's Spirit comes Alive on Stage

As an effort to preserve the precious culture, School organized a unique programme with a marvelous theme 'Cultural Diversity of India'.

In this programme all the four houses presented the diverse culture of four states - one from each region. The event started with Dayanand House presentation of West Bengal. The students very effectively presented various aspects of the state like Durga Puja, handicraft, Rabindra Sangeet etc. Tagore House got a privilege to portray the beauty of Kerala. The house depicted state's vibrant culture through Onam celebration, classical dances like Mohiniattam, Kathkali and also the economic aspect through creating a scene of fishing on stage.

Then came the turn of Gandhi House that presented the colourful state - Rajasthan. The highlight of this presentation was the heart-touching story of brave queen Padmini who sacrificed her life for saving her honour. Students brought Rajasthan alive on stage with highly energetic folk music and dances. The programme came to an end with a very interesting and beautiful presentation of Uttar Pradesh. The most attractive part of this presentation was 'Ganga Aarti' that carried audience to the holy banks of Ganga.

At the end, Principal Mr. D. Rawat appreciated the efforts of all the four houses and invoked everyone to save our pious country from cultural pollution.
